------------	---	---------------------------------------

Pre-Lesson Engagement: A review of the content and vocabulary from the reading.

Timing: 5-7 minutes.

Notes: Discussion questions should elicit discussion – do not use yes/no questions. Start the class with discussions questions, not “How was your weekend?”.

Part 1: Discussion Questions

Purpose: To get students thinking about the topic.

Use the following questions to elicit a classroom discussion about the topic.

Questions:

1. Question (Answers will vary)
2. Question (Answers will vary)

PLEASE DO NOT INCLUDE ANY PLE ACTIVITIES ON THE PPT.

Production: Combines the focus, topic, and skill of the lesson in a student-centered activity.

Timing: 15-20 minutes.

Notes: Aim to maximize students' speaking opportunities for SP lessons, try to avoid activities that only require 1 student to speak at a time. For WR lessons, try to push students and their abilities.

Part 1: (Optional) Brainstorming

Purpose: To cooperatively think of ideas to be used in paragraph writing

Key Instructions:

Additional Notes:

N.B. Please do not provide a template for the entire paragraph – the goal of these lessons is to equip them to do this for themselves.

Part 2: Paragraph Writing

Purpose: To have students express opinions in full sentences on a given topic

Key Instructions:

Additional Notes:

Part 3: Teacher Checking

Purpose: To receive feedback and check errors

Once students start to finish their paragraphs, give written corrections

Part 4: Rewrite

Purpose: To correct errors and improve writing skills

Once students have their written corrections, they can rewrite their paragraph in the space provided

Closure: A time for the students to reflect on what they have learned in the class.

Timing: Under 5 minutes.

Part 1: Review

Purpose: To learn from others' errors

Key Instructions: Share and fix common errors. Share good paragraphs.

Additional Notes: While students are working, note common errors to highlight at the end – avoid singling out students at this point and address the issues as a class. If time allows, students might be able to share their completed paragraphs as well.

Notes:

Teaching Notes: Space to make notes before, during, or after classes as needed.
